PREFACE

The Slave Deeds of New Hanover County, North Carolina – Series I (1734-1820) is the printed form of the electronic database of the same title. The downloadable electronic files are available on the New Hanover County Slave Deeds webpage hosted by the Cape Fear Community College Libraries at <http://libguides.cfcc.edu/deeds>. Prior to the compilation of the present work, the database was published in short volumes of approximately 1,500 entries. These volumes contain only the most necessary of the database fields. However, during the preparation of the third volume, this method no longer appeared practical, nor did the editors consider the abridged format a good representation of the information compiled within the electronic files. Further, an evaluation of the work remaining to complete the entire database to the end of the era of slavery would require the publishing and distribution of many short volumes. The format of the printed database was changed to single large printed volumes (Series I, Series II, etc.) that contained all the data from multiple electronic files with easily searchable sections. A review of the previously compiled volumes of the Slave Deeds of New Hanover County, North Carolina Database with the old ID numbers of 1-3987 was undertaken in preparation for this edition. Also, duplicate records were found in Volume 1; thus, a page by page review of the deed books that comprised that volume was required. As a result of this review, duplicate entries and a small number of erroneous entries were identified and removed (see Appendix). The total number of entries included herein is 6,607.

Both the electronic database files and the printed edition of this series were created for the purpose of providing researchers with a tool to locate the original documents dispersed throughout the archives of the New Hanover County Register of Deeds that are associated with enslaved persons. The original “slave deeds” are, however, only one set of official documents contributing fragmentary information that needs to be appreciated as an element within the context of a more rigorous program of research. When this project commenced during the summer of 2013, it was assumed that a database of deeds documenting the transfer of ownership of enslaved persons from one party to another would enable genealogists to research the lineages of enslaved persons. It is now apparent that this database alone does not contain enough information across multiple generations for this type of research. Wills, estate records, and other county documents provide equally valuable pieces of information that must be examined. Likewise, unofficial primary sources, such as newspapers, often record events in the lives of the enslaved that can be associated with places and individuals that are excluded from the realm of official documents. Thus, the editors recommend the researcher use the information presented here in conjunction with other indices and primary sources. However, if the goal of the researcher is purely academic, the potential for exploring and interpreting the data herein is great.

The database contains 6,607 entries (including cross reference entries for enslaved persons with first and last names, or complex names i.e. “Andrew Pumpsy” or “Little Jack”) gleaned from an examination of 1,510 documents contained in over forty books of deeds from the archives of the New Hanover County Register of Deeds, and covers the period 1734 through 1820. The completed deed books are listed below.

How to use this resource

There are a few details worth noting. When a (1) or (2) appears after a Grantor/Grantee name it is to indicate the number of persons with the same name within the record. In the case of enslaved persons it is to indicate multiple people with the same name in the original deed. When the relationship between Grantor and Grantee with the same name is explained in the original deed, that information is included in the “Notes” field; the editors only included information provided in the original deed and did not make inferences on their own.

SI-ID	GRANTOR	GRANTEE	SLAVE(S)
988	Rutherford, John (1) ; Johnston, Francis	Rutherford, Francis ; Rutherford, William Gordon	Rutherford, John (2) ; Jamy (1)
989	Rutherford, John (1) ; Johnston, Francis	Rutherford, Francis ; Rutherford, William Gordon	Rutherford, John (2) ; Jamy (2)

While all the recorded transactions fall under the category of deeds, the nature of the transactions varied. Some deeds are associated with the last will and testament of slaveholders, some are connected with mortgages, and others are part of a marriage agreement. For this reason, a document type field (DOC TYPE) is included in the database.

The tables below lists abbreviations found in the database and the heading of the fields in this database.

Table of abbreviations

The following abbreviations are used in both the printed and electronic editions of this series. The items included in this table are not limited to the DOC TYPE field.

AMND	Amendment	MA	Marriage Agreement

Table of data fields

ABBREVIATION	DEFINITION
SI-ID	(Series I ID) Each enslaved person is assigned a unique identifier per transaction. This number is used in the database file. It is not included in the printed edition.
GRANTOR(S)	Individual(s) who is selling the enslaved person(s). Grantor names in some cases were corrected from the original deed books for this database. These corrections were made when numerous spellings of the same name were found in the same document. The editors determined that they were in fact misspelling and agreed on standard spelling of the name.
GRANTEE(S)	Individual(s) that is buying the enslaved person(s). Grantee names in some cases were corrected from the original deed books for this database. These corrections were made when numerous spellings of the same name were found in the same document. We determined that they were in fact misspelling and agreed on standard spelling of the name.
DATE	This is the recorded date of the transaction. This recorded date can be days, weeks, months or even years from the actual transaction date. In some cases when a recorded date was not available the date of the transaction was used.
BOOK/PAGE	Name and page number of the deed book. Deed books are located in the archive room of the New Hanover County Register of Deeds.
DOC TYPE	Specifies the type of transaction that was recorded (see abbreviations)
ENSLAVED PERSON(S)	Name of the enslaved person. Enslaved person names are listed exactly as they appeared. We made no attempts to update or correct the spellings of the enslaved person.
IMPLIED GENDER/AGE	In some cases, gender is given as male or female. In most cases, gender is implied; girl, boy, man, woman, lad, wench, fellow, etc. Age is listed in years except when otherwise stated. In some cases, age is listed as a general term: man, child, young. A tilde (~) is used when an age is identified as “about”.
AMOUNT	Amount of money exchanged. The amount listed is the total amount for the transaction. In some cases, amounts are followed by a number in parentheses. This number represents the number of enslaved persons included in the total amount listed. For example: $550 (2) = two enslaved persons for the total amount of $550. No attempts were made to divide the amounts not specifically listed in the deed books.
ADDITIONAL INFORMATION	Enslaved person classifications as recorded in the Deed books. Classifications are based on race, racial mixture, and ethnicity.
NOTES	Any information in the original transaction that added value to the record.
